More advertisement from the universities and more masterclasses

Fund masterclasses

I think we should continue to engage school kids more, even more so now that the funding has been slashed. It is important for both the sides.

Masterclasses directly at DESY/KEK/CERN might be more attractive, although more expensive

I registered as helper twice, but was never asked to actually help. Without just helping out as a volunteer, I don't feel confident enough to organize something myself. Also I wouldn't even know how to go about it
